Re: DE 10-188 -- The Way Home's Response to the Joint Utility Proposal and The Jordan Institute Proposal for use of RGGI Funds in 2012

Dear Secretary Howland:

The Way Home supports the Joint Utility Proposal for use of RGGI funds for 2012. The Way Home takes no position at this time with respect to the proposed calculation of the performance incentive.

The Way Home wishes to thank The Jordan Institute for putting together a proposal that considers the low-income need, but The Way Home does not support this proposal. The Way Home would also point out a mistake on page 2 of the proposal of The Jordan Institute. The Way Home has never applied for or been a recipient of RGGI or Core funds and does not administer any energy efficiency program monies from either RGGI or Core.

Thank you for your consideration of this matter.

Sincerely,

Dan Feltes & Alan Linder
