Companies Offering Landline Residential Telephone Service by Exchange

March 2020

The table below shows companies that are currently providing landline residential telephone service in each telephone exchange of the state, according to information provided to the New Hampshire Public Utilities Commission.

Cellular carriers do not provide such information to the PUC and are not listed. In addition, some carriers that may offer service have declined to be included in the table.

Note that the table lists providers alphabetically, and by "exchange" rather than by town. For historical reasons these may be different. For example, all Manchester is in an exchange named "Manchester," but part of Auburn is also in the "Manchester" exchange. You may want to check the exchange map on this site.

Some of these companies are prepared to quickly provide service in other exchanges where they are not yet listed. See the contact information below the table for any notes regarding such availability.
