Analysis

On November 24, 2012, the Commission approved Revolution Energy, LLC (Revolution Energy) as an aggregator of RECs generated by the company's renewable energy projects pursuant to New Hampshire Code of Administrative Rules Puc 2506. On June 04, 2013, Revolution Energy submitted a letter to the Commission regarding two changes to its aggregator status:

- Revolution Energy is requesting Commission recognition of a new limited liability company, Revolution Energy Aggregation, LLC (Revolution Energy Aggregation<sup>1</sup>) dedicated to assisting customer-sited sources in New Hampshire with the aggregation and sale of available RECs; and,
- Revolution Energy/ Revolution Energy Aggregation is now requesting Commission approval for the expansion of services to include both the aggregation of Revolution Energy's renewable energy projects as well as the aggregation of other New Hampshire customer-sited sources pursuant to Puc 2506.

Recommendation

Staff has reviewed Revolution Energy's request for recognition of its new LLC, Revolution Energy Aggregation, and the company's request to provide aggregation services for New Hampshire customer-sited sources. Staff recommends approval of both
